The purpose of this article is to control the quality of factory-built housing installed within the corporate limits and within the jurisdictional area outside the corporate limits of the City by adopting minimum standards for quality and use of construction materials, quality and methods of fabrication and by establishing standards for inspection.

SECTION 4-802: SCOPE

This article shall apply to any factory-built housing, as defined herein, installed within the corporate limits and within the jurisdictional area of the City. Except as specifically provided herein, quality and use of construction materials and quality and methods of fabrication shall be in conformity with the provisions of this code as if the house were being conventionally built on site.

SECTION 4-803: DEFINITIONS

“Dwelling unit” shall mean one or more rooms arranged for the use of one or more individuals living together as a single housekeeping unit with cooking, living, sanitary and sleeping facilities.

“Factory-built housing” shall mean one family dwelling unit not to exceed one story in height, which is either wholly or partially fabricated at an off-site location to be wholly or partially assembled on site, but not to include mobile homes.

“Fabrication” shall mean to construct, build or assemble standardized parts by putting together floors, side walls, interior partitions, ceilings, roofs, or any parts or portions thereof as assembled units (including all parts and portions of electrical, plumbing, heating and air conditioning systems and mechanical equipment included therein), before incorporating them into one completed structure as a factory-built house.

“Fabricator” shall mean an individual, firm or corporation fabricating factory-built houses.

“Family” shall mean an individual or two or more persons related by blood, marriage or law; or a group of persons who need not be related, living together in a dwelling unit.

“Installation” shall mean the assembly of a factory-built house on site and the process of affixing the structure to land, a foundation or footings.

“Site” shall mean the entire tract, subdivision or parcel of land on which a factory-built house is installed.

SECTION 4-804: MATERIALS AND METHODS OF CONSTRUCTION

The city building inspector shall have the authority to approve materials, methods of construction and arrangement of materials for use under this article. Before any such material, or any such method of construction, or any such arrangement of materials shall be approved, reasonable tests as required by the said building inspector shall have been made and found by him/her to be safe and in conformity with the provisions of this code. Such tests shall be made in accordance with current standards of the American Society for Testing and Materials. All expenses for such tests shall be made by the applicant, and security for payment of the cost thereof may be required.

SECTION 4-805: TESTS OF ASSEMBLIES

1. Durability Tests. The building inspector may require reasonable special tests to be made on assemblies to determine their durability and weather resistance.

2. Insulation. Factory-built houses shall be so insulated that the coefficient of heat transmission (U) shall not exceed 0.25 BTU per hour per square foot of surface area per degree of Fahrenheit difference in temperature between the air on the two sides for ceilings, sidewalks and floors, except that where there is a heated basement, no special provision for insulation of floor between this space and the first or ground story shall be required.

SECTION 4-806: CONNECTIONS

1. Design. Bolts or other devices designed to connect fabricated assemblies to be used in factory-built houses shall be capable of developing the strength of members connected and to resist wind loads as specified in the National Building Code, as amended, recommended by the American Insurance Association.

2. Roof Connections. Connections consisting of bolts or other devices between roofs and the supporting walls shall be capable of withstanding an uplift equal to not less than ten pounds per square foot of horizontally projected roof area, in addition to withstanding the other stresses specified in the National Building Code, as amended, recommended by the American Insurance Association.

3. Weatherproofing. Individual units or sections of fabricated assemblies, either floor, wall, ceiling or roof, shall be so connected that joints shall be weather- and wind-proof. Said joints shall be properly caulked in an approved manner and covered on the weather side with approved battens or other approved weather covering.

SECTION 4-807: ALLOWANCES FOR NON-INCORPORATED PIPES, CONDUITS AND ELECTRICAL WIRING

1. Structural Design. In the structural design of an assembly, due allowance shall be made for any material to be removed for the installation of pipes, conduits, electrical wiring or other equipment at a place other than the factory or which has been installed but not inspected at the factory.

2. Tests. Panels which are required to be tested shall be tested after all chases and cavities for such equipment have been cut.

3. Additional Cutting. No additional material shall be removed from any fabricated assembly during construction, other than as provided in this section, unless specifically approved by the building inspector.

SECTION 4-808: PERMITS, FEES AND APPROVAL OF PLANS

It shall be unlawful for any fabricator to begin fabricating a factory-built house for use within the corporate limits or jurisdictional area of the City until (1) such fabricator, person, firm or corporation shall have filed plans and specifications, including details for electrical, plumbing, heating, air conditioning and distributions systems, together with an application and fees for a permit thereunder in the same manner and amount as any owner, his/her agent or a contractor building the same house on site and (2) the said permit and copy of said plans and specifications bearing said permit number and stamped "approved" by the building inspector shall have been received by the fabricator.

SECTION 4-809: CERTIFICATE OF INSPECTION

1. Materials. Materials and the assembly thereof as a factory-built house shall be inspected to determine compliance with this article. Every material or fabricated assembly shall be labeled with stickers, affixed by the building inspector or an approved certifying agency, bearing the permit number under which it was fabricated, certifying compliance with the approved plans and specifications and the provisions of this code.

2. Shop Inspections. During the process of fabrication, all assembling of materials which are inaccessible for inspection in each fabricated panel or unit after completion shall be inspected for compliance with this article before being covered, by checking to make sure it complies with the approved copy of the plans and specifications.

3. Certificate. A Certificate of Compliance shall be furnished with every factory-built house. Such certificate shall certify that it has been inspected and approved and complies with (A) the copy of the plans, specifications or description of work, and (B) the provisions of this code.

4. Certifying Agency. To be acceptable, every Certificate of Compliance shall be made by the building inspector under the provisions of this code when the place of fabrication is within the corporate limits or jurisdictional area of the City. In the event the place of fabrication is outside the corporate limits or jurisdictional area of the City, the Certificate of Compliance may be made by the above authority or by an agency approved by the City Council. All compensation of such inspection and certifying services conducted outside the corporate limits or jurisdictional limits shall be paid by the person, firm or corporation manufacturing said factory-built house. Failure on the part of any approved certifying agency to make the required inspections, or the making by any approved certifying agency of false or improper certificates, or false or improper labeling of fabricated assemblies, shall be cause for cancellation of approval of such agency by the City Council and shall, in addition, render such agency subject to forfeiture of its penalty bond or liable to prosecution for failure of compliance with this article. All approved certifying agencies shall maintain a penalty bond in the sum of $10,000.00, payable to the City.

5. Continuous Inspection. If continuous inspection is required for certain materials where construction takes place on the site, it shall also be required where the same materials are used in factory-built housing. In such event the fabricator of such factory-built house shall pay to the city clerk the cost of such inspections made by the building inspector. Such continuous inspections will not be required during fabrication if the approved certifying agency provides such continuous inspection and certifies compliance with the approved plans and specifications.

6. Intermittent Inspection. The fabricator shall permit the right of entry and be required to pay for seven trips per year by the city building inspector to allow him/her to make unscheduled plant inspections of the work in progress relating to any factory-built house to be installed within the corporate limits or jurisdictional area of the City.

SECTION 4-810: FIELD ERECTION

Placement of a factory-built house on the building site shall be inspected by the city building inspector to determine compliance with this article, and said inspector shall require that anything not in compliance with the requirements of this code be immediately removed from the premises.

SECTION 4-811: APPEAL PROCEDURE

Any person, firm or corporation feeling aggrieved by any order or decision of the building inspector concerning the construction of a building under the provisions of this code and controlled by this article may appeal to the Board of Adjustment.
